Foreword

We Seniors wish to show you our school in action in 1964-65. Here is the students' view of a year that has become only a memory. We have caught the school citizenry in action, photographed them, written proper details of their tasks, and recorded them in this Wolf Pack. A view of the new building with its additional advantages and new traditions is presented. Impressions, a new section which preceeds this page, has been added to give an idea of some of the events which comprise our school days, but are sometimes forgotten.

The staff wishes to acknowledge the invaluable assistance of Leon Fredrick, who supplied most of the sports action shots; Danny Emerson, student photographer; Walker, Missouri Commerce and Industrial Development Division, who supplied the picture of Table Rock Dam; our professional photographers, C. H. Lenhart and Dave Baldwin; our publisher, Inter-Collegiate Press; and our advertisers who helped to bear the financial burden.

DEPARTMENTS

Board of Education Leads School Forward

People rarely take time to observe the untiring efforts put forth by the School Board members. The Board of Education often receives little praise and no reward for their hard work.

Such men as these are the backbone of our community. They play a big part in helping the students of today become the leaders of tomorrow.

We, the Wolf Pack Staff for 1965, wish to thank the six hard working members of the Board for all the time, trouble and effort they put forth to make us brighter and more worthwhile citizens.

Mr. Parsons meets with the board members to discuss the problems and progress of the school system. Pictured left to right are Mr. Stone, Mr. Scobee, Mr. Brown, Mr. Parsons, and Mr. Clark.

Mr. Don A. Parsons is for the third year ably filling the position of Superintendent of Schools at Reeds Spring. His ability in leadership has been demonstrated many times as our educational system has progressed. His constant goal has been to provide the best possible plant and modern equipment for teaching and training Reeds Spring students.

Mr. Parsons holds a B. S. Degree from S. M. S. and an M. E. Degree, with some additional work toward a Doctorate, from the University of Arkansas. He has served 15 years as a superintendent, 10 years as a principal, 5 years as elementary principal, teacher, and coach in schools of the Southwest Missouri region.

Superintendent Strives for Higher Goals

Mr. Parsons and Mrs. Jones work together endless hours on budget and financial records.

MRS. KARRIE JONES
Secretary to Mr. Parsons

MR. DONALD G. PAGE

Being a high school principal has numerous responsibilities and many rewards, according to Mr. Page. He believes that as principal, one needs to know each student as well as possible in order to council and guide their educational endeavors.

He maintains a "student centered" approach, attempting to promote mutual cooperation between administration and student. Mr. Page says his most unpleasant task is "disciplining students for things they know they shouldn't have done in the first place," and his most pleasant activity is "working with students who are attempting to get the most out of their educational opportunity."

In addition to his duties as principal, Mr. Page coaches football and track, and teaches Art.

well as lending valuable assistance with clerical details in ledges enjoyed by Seniors Diane Foster, Linda Stone and

Mr. Huddleston, who serves as Junior High Principal, reported that this year has been a rewarding one. He finds the students at RSHS have much self-respect, therefore allowing them to have more respect for their teachers and fellow classmates. Discipline, says Mr. Huddleston, is one part of his job which few students realize is necessary in order to become better citizens. Mr. Huddleston also coaches basketball and teaches English.

The position of elementary principal, ably filled by Mrs. Edith Workman, includes such duties as maintaining permanent records, counseling teachers ordering supplies, and dealing with problems that arise for students, teachers, and parents.

Language Department Develops

It is the ambition of the Language Department to inspire in the students a knowledge of the language arts. The department consists of English I, II, III, IV, Speech and French. Mrs. McElroy teaches English II and III, French II, and Speech. Mr. McElroy teaches English IV and Junior High English, except for one section taught by Mr. Huddleston.

Speech, being offered for the second year, offers students an opportunity to express themselves orally. These students also compete in area speech tournaments.

Mr. McElroy emphasizes lines from the RIME OF THE ANCIENT MARINER to his English IV class.

The Eighth Grade English students work with Mr. Huddleston to improve their understanding of English grammar.

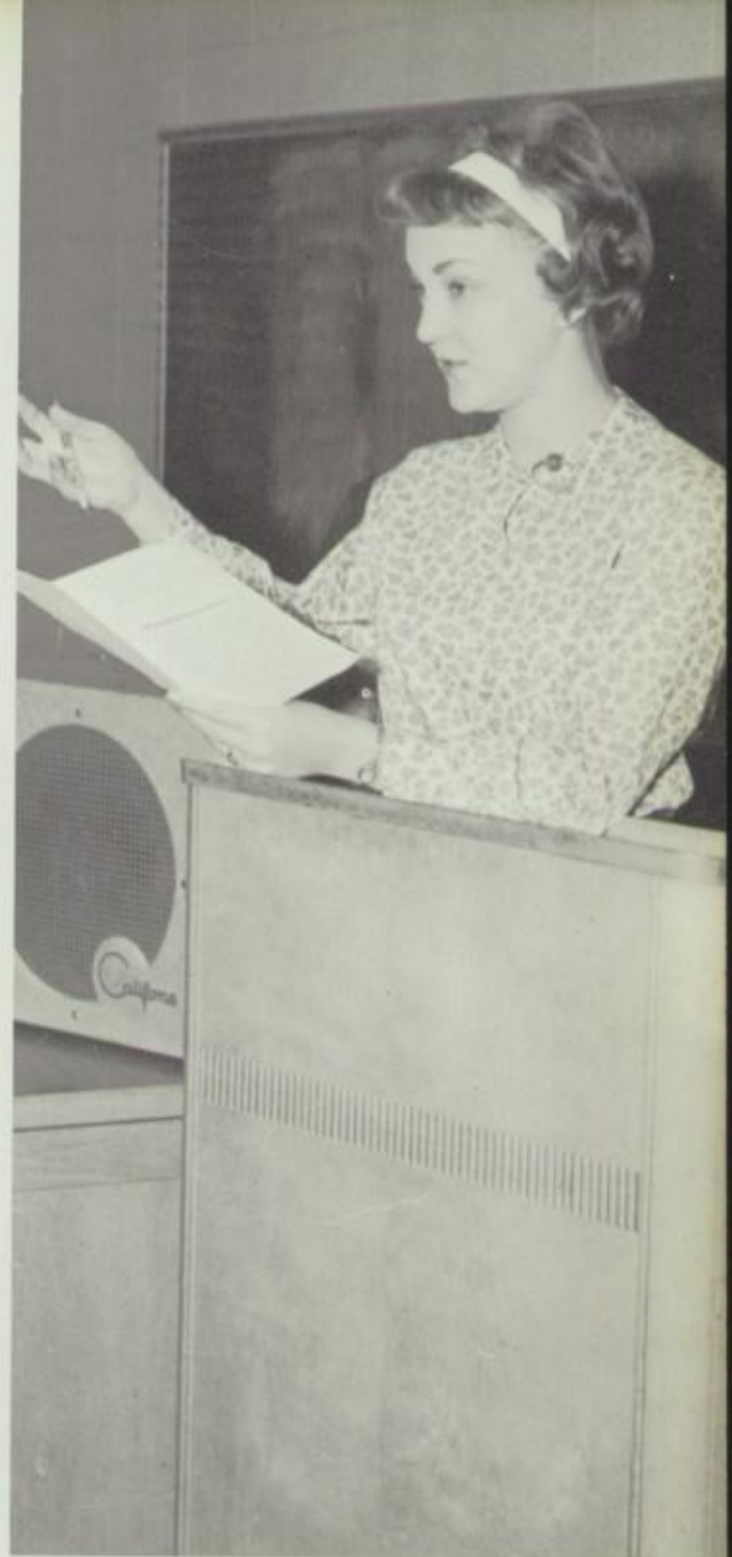

Communicative Skills

Mrs. McElroy adds spice and variety to the French II Class by using magazines, records, and the tape recorder. A problem in teaching foreign language is that much repetition is involved. If the pupil remains interested, he is much more apt to strive for its mastery.

Calvin Miller and Cheryl LaMar find interpretive reading a challenge and a satisfying form of creative expression.

The French Class uses the tape recorder to help improve their French vocabulary and pronunciation.

Teaching Aids Make Facts of

In Social Studies one studies the past and the present, attempting to understand both, and to anticipate the future. Mr. Langley teaches American History, World History and Geography. Mrs. McQueary teaches citizenship and Junior High Social Studies.

The American History Class discusses the founding and development of our great nation.

Mrs. McQueary uses the overhead projector to project a quiz on the constitution for the fifth hour citizenship class.

Past and Present More Meaningful

Through use of a variety of audio-visual aids, students are encouraged to learn facts and to apply these facts in understanding cause and effect problems.

Seventh Grade students, assisted by Mrs. McQueary, delve into facts concerning the French and Indian War.

Technical World Puts

In this increasingly technical world, math is becoming more and more important. A good background in math is almost a necessity today.

The Reeds Spring High School curriculum includes practical courses for those students who are planning a college career as well as for those who are terminating their formal education upon graduation.

Courses offered are Junior High Math, General

Math, Geometry, and Algebra. The science curriculum includes Junior High Science, General Science, Physical Science, Biology, and Agriculture.

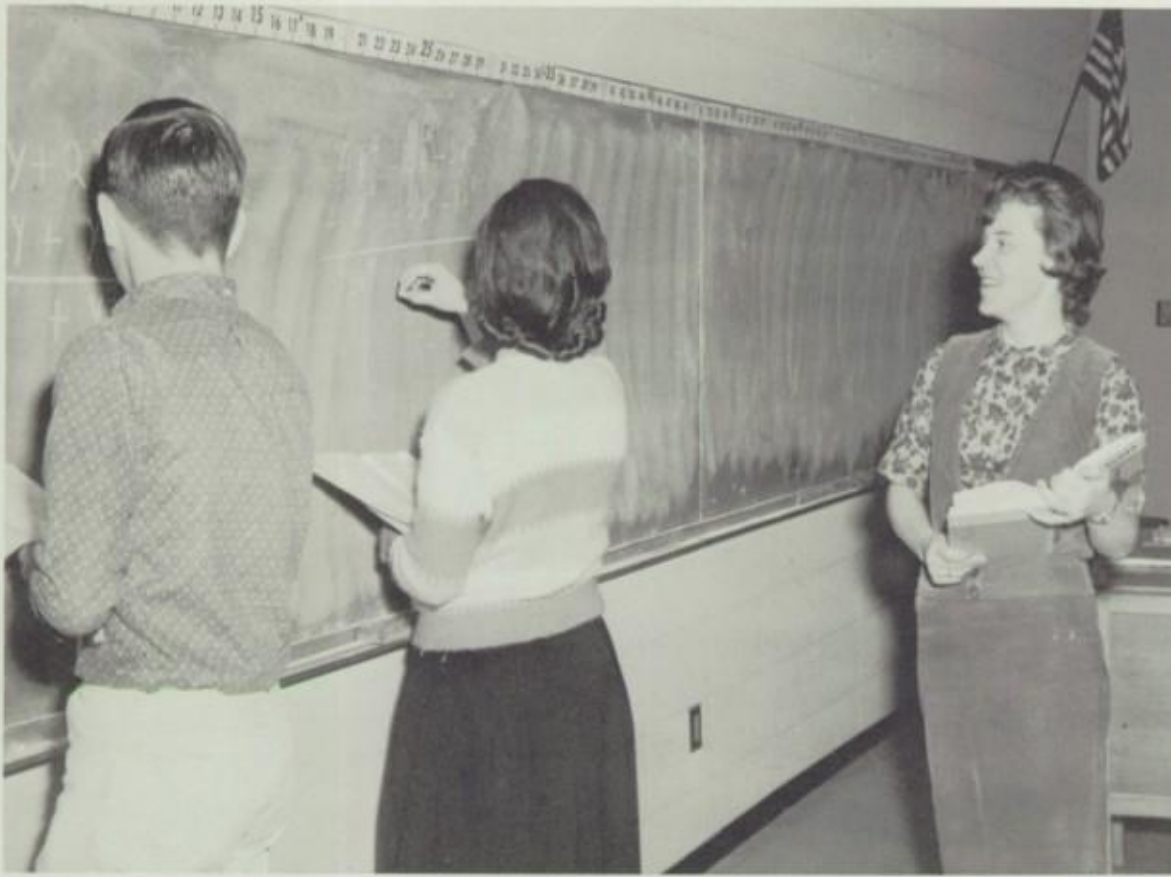

A great deal of new equipment has been put to use this year. With it, the students can learn essential principles which can be useful in solving problems of everyday living.

Emphasis on Math and Science

New equipment acquired by the Science Department includes a projection Microscope and varied collection of slides, a vacuum pump, a solar model, and various other tools. Most of this equipment can be manipulated by the students themselves, thus enriching their experiences.

The new projecting microscope, with 4 sets of slides, helps Mr. Wood illustrate the subject matter and present it more effectively to his classes.

Bill Fullerton and Don Fredrick, with the assistance of Mr. Wood, add to their knowledge of anatomy by dissecting a frog.

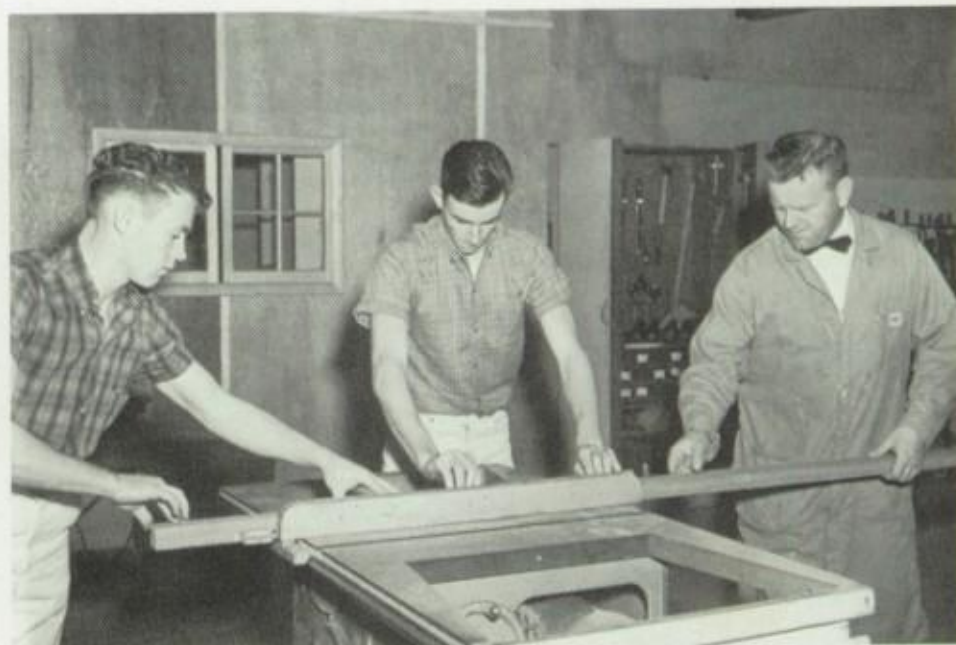

Dalan Emphasizes Safety

Vocational Shop courses offered at RSHS and taught by Mr. Emory Dalan include applied electricity, general shop, general woodwork, and drafting. These courses aid the boys in selecting and learning a lifetime occupation.

Mr. Dalan emphasizes rules and laws of safe driving on the highways. Driving practice promotes safe driving skills plus confidence born of experience.

Edna Youngblood and Alvida Jones, guided by Mr. Dalan, look over the engine of the Driver's Education car.

Creative Expression Goal in Art

Art offers many opportunities to express and to learn to appreciate the beauty that is all around us. The class this year enjoyed many projects. They did painting, and poster-making, to name but a few. Mr. Page attempts to incorporate as many mediums as possible in order to demonstrate numerous outlets for creative expression and allow each student opportunity to find those outlets that are individually satisfying.

Vocational skills that are very diverse in nature are often combined in the modern careerwoman-home-maker of today. The Home Economics and Business Education Departments teach skills that have both vocational and personal uses.

Clothing classes provide excellent opportunities for discussion of styles, color combinations, and wardrobe planning.

The Clerical Practice class works hard to complete their practice set which contains jobs one would encounter in employment.

In Home Economics and Business

Included in vocational home economics are foods and nutrition, clothing construction and care, textiles, family living, home nursing, child care and home furnishing.

The broad objectives of the Commerce Dept. include the development of specific vocational skills as well as an understanding of general business practice. Courses are designed, in addition, to meet the increasing demand for personal use of typing, bookkeeping, and knowledge of financial and legal practices.

Calculating and adding machines aid in bookkeeping but the students find it takes more than pushing buttons to become an efficient bookkeeper.

Four beginning typists demonstrate the good techniques illustrated on the bulletin board.

Knowledge of Music Emphasized

Throughout her classes, which include Boy's Glee Club, Girls Glee Club and Band, Miss Homsey works diligently to provide students with good understanding and valuation of Music.

Grades one through six receive music instruction five days a week under the direction of Miss Homsey.

Mr. Huddleston and Mr. Page share responsibility for teaching Boy's and Girl's P. E. classes.

Physical Education Builds Coordination

Mr. Don Page and Mr. Charles Huddleston both stress physical fitness in their physical education classes. Such activities as calisthenics, isometric drills, tumbling, and various games emphasizing coordination are enjoyed by the students in classes that meet on alternate days.

The Boy's P. E. Class finds that tumbling helps to improve coordination as well as being quite enjoyable.

Junior High Introduces High School Curriculum

Making the adjustment from elementary to high school, junior high students review the basic skills taught in grade school and are prepared for the high school curriculum.

Assisting in this adjustment are the junior high "solids" teachers, Mr. McElroy, Mrs. Morrill, Mrs. McQueary, and Mr. Wood.

Included in the junior high class program are English, science, social studies, math, physical education, and music.

Mr. McElroy emphasizes the importance of grammar to his Junior High English classes.

Mrs. Morrill uses this curious drawing, which represents a crude concept of the universe 5,000 years ago, to introduce elementary astronomy to her Junior High class.

Upper Grades Develop Study Habits

Miss King always finds time for individual instruction for students.

In the upper grades, fifth and sixth, Miss King, Mrs. Allen, and Mr. Purdom believe that their students should start preparing for the change into Junior High and High School.

Since math and science are becoming more important in the expanding world, these teachers try to give students a basic understanding in these subjects. The development of good study habits is also a goal.

In these classes, the teachers impress on the students the rule for constructive thinking. The "Three R's" plus science studies are re-emphasized to help the class in their future education.

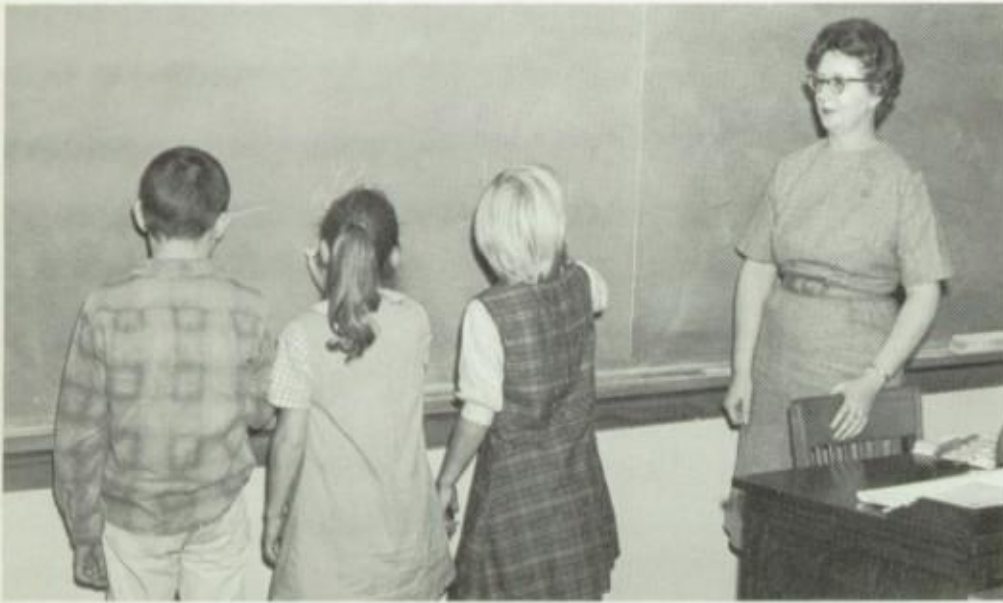

Mr. Purdom is passing out Weekly Readers to his class for a study of current events.

Mr. Welch emphasizes an interesting point in social studies to his class.

In the fourth grade, the students are introduced to such subjects as social studies and English while they continue to practice basic skills.

The third grade students, assisted by Mrs. Holt and Mrs. Dillard, learn basic science and more advanced arithmetic.

In the combined second and third grade, Mrs. Dillard must find adequate time to share between the two grades. Phonetics, reading, and writing are fundamental subjects for the second and third grades.

Mrs. Dillard emphasizes correct pronunciation as she uses the phonetic chart.

Lower Grades Develop Creative Ability

As early as the second grade the creative abilities of young students are beginning to grow. They gain understanding of how people work together in various jobs and activities. Mrs. Stults teaches the importance of getting along with one another and sharing with their fellow classmates. Reading and other fundamental subjects of young school children are introduced and firmly stressed.

Mrs. Workman and Mrs. Welch strive to instill a sturdy foundation for further learning in their first grade students. They feel that if their pupils master the basic skills of reading and writing, they have a very good basis on which to build their education, for these skills must be learned before a student can travel on to more advanced subjects.

Historical facts come alive for Mrs. Stult's class as they arrange a pilgrim scene on the bulletin board in conjunction with the unit on Pilgrims which they are studying.

Mrs. Workman and Mrs. Welch supervise their students during the much enjoyed milk break.

Special Advantages Provided

Mr. Shipley reads an interesting story to his Special Education class.

Crafts time is a very engrossing and important part of the day for Kindergarten students.

Kindergarten is for the first time at Reeds Spring being offered to pre-school students in this area. They attend only one-half day, but this gives them an idea of what school will be like next year. There are ten enrolled this term. They are taught by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wolven.

Also provided in the elementary school at Reeds Spring is Special Education. In this class, students of different ages, with various abilities, are worked with individually by Mr. Shipley.

Language Arts Clubs Supplement

The speech students have been working quite diligently this year. Debate, dramatics, oral interpretation, and public speaking have all played a big part in the year's program.

The Thespian Club enjoys many interesting and varied activities. "Look Homeward Angel" a play presented by S.M.S., gave the students a chance to see a production which stimulated their interest in acting.

David Smith, Diane Foster, Rosetta McCrorey, and Bill LaMar represented Reeds Spring High School on the KSWM Radio Station's Tournament of Knowledge.

Academic Program

The French II class activities have been many and varied. They range from reading short stories to making French Christmas cards. By the end of the year it is hoped all will have a fair working knowledge of not only the French language, but the French people and culture.

The tape recorder, which Rosetta is using, is a valuable asset to the foreign language department.

Mrs. McElroy

Mumbo-Jumbo is a gay, modern, mystery crammed with action and loaded with laughs. Dick and Pee-Wee, two college boys arrive at Dick's uncle's in the country. They are there on some mysterious mission and are not at all dismayed when they learn that Uncle John has been called away to a funeral. Needing cash in a hurry, they decide upon the desperate plan of turning the place into a country hotel. That night one of the guests is slain and action begins. The mystery and suspense holds an audience on the edge of their seats for a highly entertaining evening.

Challenging

In their first year of varsity competition, and playing a schedule against long established, experienced teams, the Wolves turned in a disappointing record from the standpoint of wins, (1-6) but gained invaluable experience. It is a credit to coach and players that their enthusiasm for the game is undiminished. With that kind of fighting spirit, future Reeds Spring squads may bear watching.

Queens Reign Over

Reeds Spring's first annual Football Homecoming was held at half time of the game with Granby October 23, 1964. The Queen was Miss Sandy Erwin, sponsored by the Junior class and elected by the football team members. Her charming attendants were Miss Judy Gass, Senior; Miss Dollie Barnes, Sophomore; Miss Shari Peterson, Freshman. The girls were brought out onto the field in shiny new cars and escorted by Steven Holliday, Senior; Melvin Holt, Junior; Richard Foster, Sophomore; Kenny Henderson, Freshman; to the royal box in the stands. Rodney Barnes, team captain crowned the queen. The entire evening was a great success as the Wolves trounced Grandby, 33-13.

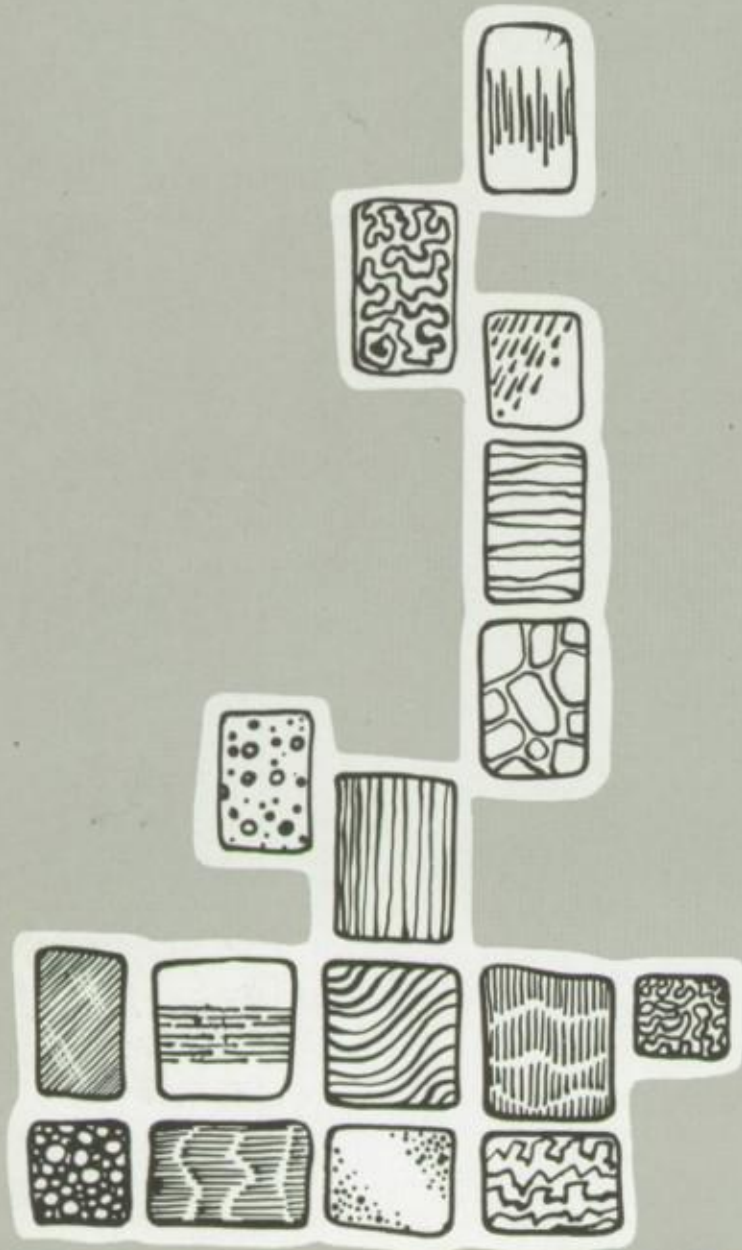

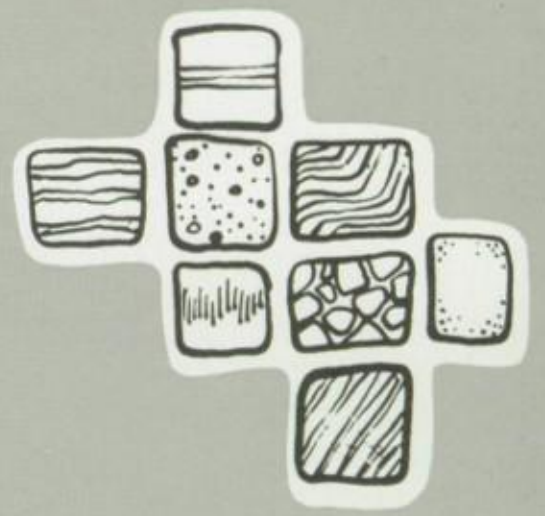

Gridiron and Court

Reeds Spring held its eighth Annual Basketball Homecoming on January 15, 1965. The team bestowed the honor of Queen on Miss Paula Compton, Junior. Queen Paula was attended by Charlotte Scobee, Senior; Betty Benson, Sophomore; and Toni Claybough, Freshman. All of the girls looked stunning in white evening gowns as they were escorted onto the court by the team members.

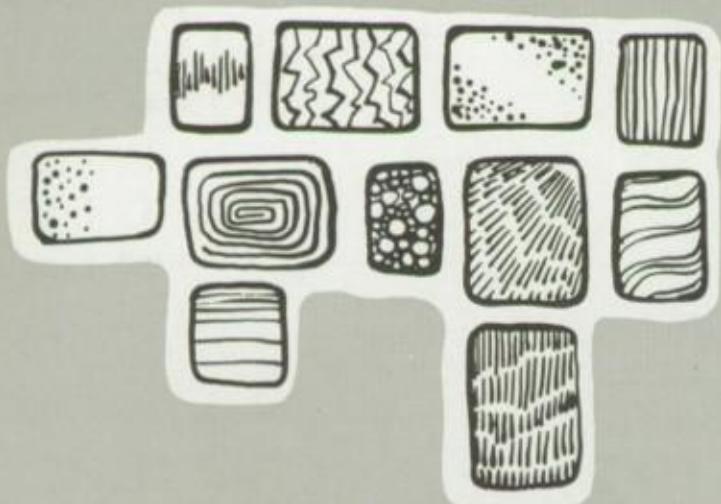

The queen was crowned by co-captain Gary Johnson, and escorted by co-captain, Don Fredrick. She was presented with a bouquet of red carnations.

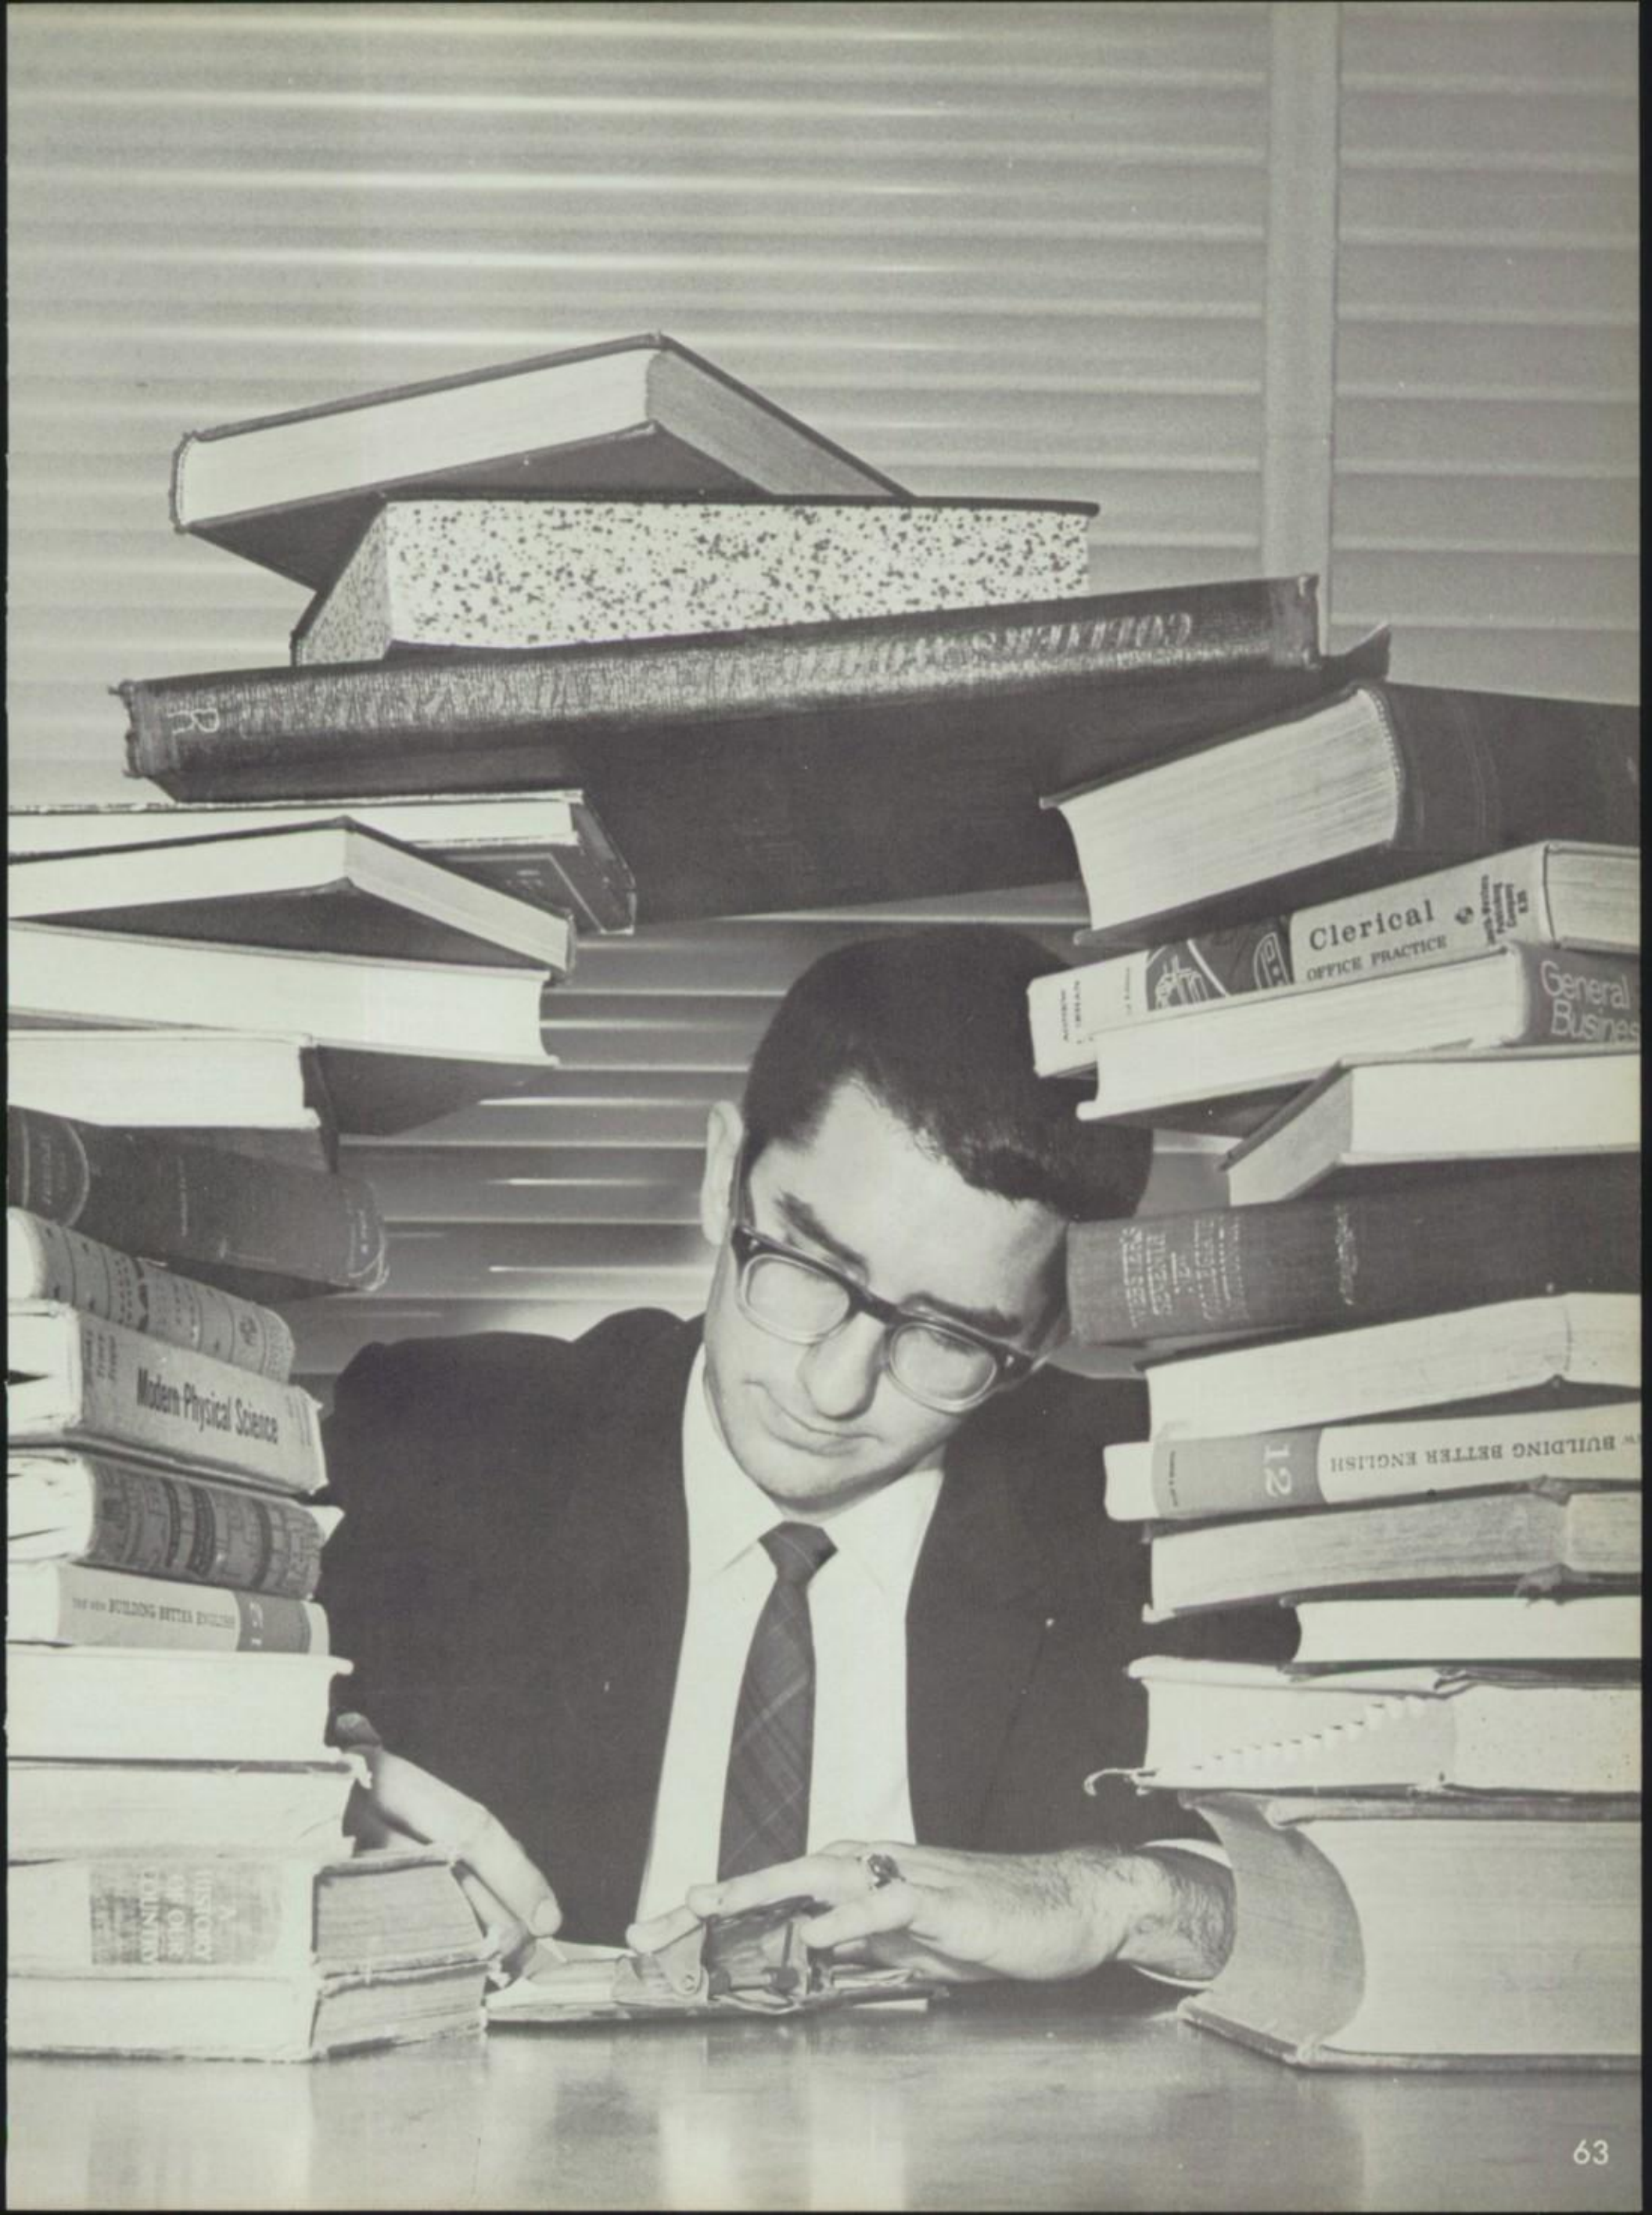

Miss Compton started the second half of the game by throwing a new ball to the team from her throne.

LIFE'S CLOCK

The clock of life is wound but once,
And no man has the power
To tell just when the hands will stop,
At late or early hour.

To lose one's wealth is sad indeed,
To lose one's health is more;
To lose one's soul is such a loss,
As no man can restore.

The present only is our own;
Live, love, toil, with a will;
"Place no faith in "Tomorrow,"
For the clock may then be still.

Rollicking Comedy Presented

"Father, Oogie, please!"

Thursday, April 29, the Seniors presented a delightful comedy entitled A DATE WITH JUDY. Adapted from the radio play of the same name, it is concerned with the zany adventures of Judy Foster and Oogie Pringle. The hilarity centers around situations which develop after Judy enters innocent members of her family in contests.

Action never lagged as one scene moved smoothly into another.

This Reeds Spring track squad is one of the outstanding teams in southwest Missouri this year. They are, left to right, front row, Melvin Holt, Bill Fullerton, Don Fredrick, Don Buntin, and F. D. Watson. Back row: Gene Bobsin, Gary Jones, Jim Georges, Calvin Miller, Coach Don Page, Garth Mease and Gary Johnson. The team won the Southwest Central League meet, the First Annual Reeds Spring Relays, third in the District meet and scored highest in the state meet of any team in the area, including the two teams that edged them in the District Meet. At the state meet at Columbia, Jim Georges took fourth in the 440 yard dash; the mile relay team, composed of Bill Fullerton, Calvin Miller, Don Buntin, Jim Georges, took fifth place, and the 880 yard relay team, composed of Don Fredrick, Don Buntin, Bill Fullerton and Gene Bobsin, came in sixth.

Wolves Are

Junior, Melvin Holt, earns another five points for the track team as he clears the bar at 5'10" in the Reeds Spring First Annual Relays.

Jim Georges "flies" 18'11 1/2" to win the long jump event of the Southwest Central League Meet.

Don Fredrick clears the last flight in good form as he wins the League high hurdle event with ease.

S.W.C.L. Champs!

Versatile dash man Don Buntin ran wherever he was needed in the 100, 220, and 440 yard dash events as well as on the relay teams.

The 100 yard dash event of the League Meet produced this thrilling finish as Reeds Spring Sophomore Jim Georges barely edges Bob Hilas, Sophomore from Crane. Finishing behind Hilas is last year's winner, Bob Stringham, from Clever. In the second heat Don Buntin, Reeds Spring Senior, tied Georges' time, giving the Wolves' nine of the fifty-one points with which they won the championship.

Gene Bobsin brings home the baton as anchorman in the Mile Relay at the First Annual Reeds Spring Relays.

Don Fredrick and Calvin Miller were presented trophies by the Quarterback Club as outstanding basketball players. Don's trophy is for top rebounder and Calvin's trophies are for top shooting percentage and best all-around player.

Paula Compton and Lea Ann Arnold were presented special merit awards by the Quarterback Club in recognition of their outstanding contribution as cheerleaders in promoting sports activities.

Special Achievements Recognized

One of the highlights of every school year is Class and Awards Day, at which time deserving students are given recognition for outstanding achievements in the different aspects of high school life. Scholarships, and two citizenship awards, departmental pens and certificates of merit, and athletic awards are presented. Included in the program are the solemn reading of the Senior Class Will, Prophecy, History, and presentation of the Class Key to the next Senior Class. Eighth Grade diplomas also are presented. Capped and gowned Seniors, along with the faculty, preside over this important day.

Mr. Parsons presents the coveted Citizenship pins to David Smith and Rosetta McCrorey, who were selected by the faculty as outstanding school citizens.

Bringing recognition to themselves and to our school in various district and state activities were Nina Mead, who earned a II rating at District music festival with her vocal solo, Calvin Miller, who rated a I at both District and State with his trombone solo, and Lea Ann Arnold who rated Excellent at District Speech Festival and Superior at State with her poetry reading.

To close the program, Senior Class President Rodney Barnes presented the ceremonial key to the Senior Class of 1966 represented by Calvin Miller.

Reeds Spring High School Seniors Become

An excited group of seniors departed from RSHS at 8:00 a.m., Sunday morning, May 9. As usual, everyone was there early except Coach and C. T. After a hard day of travel, we arrived in Vicksburg, Mississippi, about dark. After securing rooms at the Holiday Inn, everyone rushed in to change clothes and jump into the pool. Since it was the first night of the trip, everyone was wide-eyed and stayed up late so as not to miss a moment of excitement. Early Monday morning sleepy-eyed sleepwalkers loaded on the bus for an educational tour of the Vicksburg Battlefield. Everyone had their cameras handy to record some of the beautiful monuments and reactions to them. Upon finishing this tour we were then on our way to New Orleans. We crossed Lake Pontchartrain Causeway, world's longest bridge. As one might expect, a night in New Orleans can be fun. Nearly everyone wanted to see just what Bourbon Street was like. Many explored nightclubs in the company of Mrs. Rhoades, Mr. Page, and Mr. Clark. In New Orleans, eighteen year olds are accepted as adults. Tuesday there was no rush to get up as the bus wasn't pulling out until 10:00 A.M. After eating and shopping, the group left for Biloxi, Mississippi, where they would have two whole days to spend without a rigid agenda. Arriving in Biloxi about noon, rooms were secured and everyone was on their own. The restaurant seemed to be the first attraction for most, then the pool and shopping center. When dark came everyone loaded on the bus with two seats piled full of food to look for an ideal spot for a beach party. After traveling twelve miles, the group returned to find the best place across the highway from the motel. Everything went fine until some of the boys decided it would be fun to throw some of the girls into the nasty ocean. The party died rapidly. Thursday morning found a tired group on the first leg of the homeward journey. About dark we found a motel in West Memphis, Arkansas. This being the last night, some braved it and stayed up all night.

Friday morning, some wide-awake, and other not-so-wide-awake Seniors, started the journey back to Missouri. The atmosphere inside the bus was quite different from the atmosphere as the trip began. People were sleeping in the seats, across the seats, on the luggage, and in the floor. At 4:00 p. m., a tired but happy bunch of seniors arrived in Reeds Spring anxious to tell everyone what they had seen and of the fun they had had.

"For we are jolly good fellows"

Seniors Look Forward

The graduating class of 1965 numbered thirty-two, sixteen boys and sixteen girls. It is the thirty-seventh class to be graduated from Reeds Spring High School. Graduation exercises were held in the high school gymnasium on the evening of May 17. Dr. Morrill from The School of the Ozarks spoke on the Seniors on use of opportunities in the Space Age. Mr. C. T. Clark, President of the Board of Education, presented the diplomas.

Rosetta McCrorey

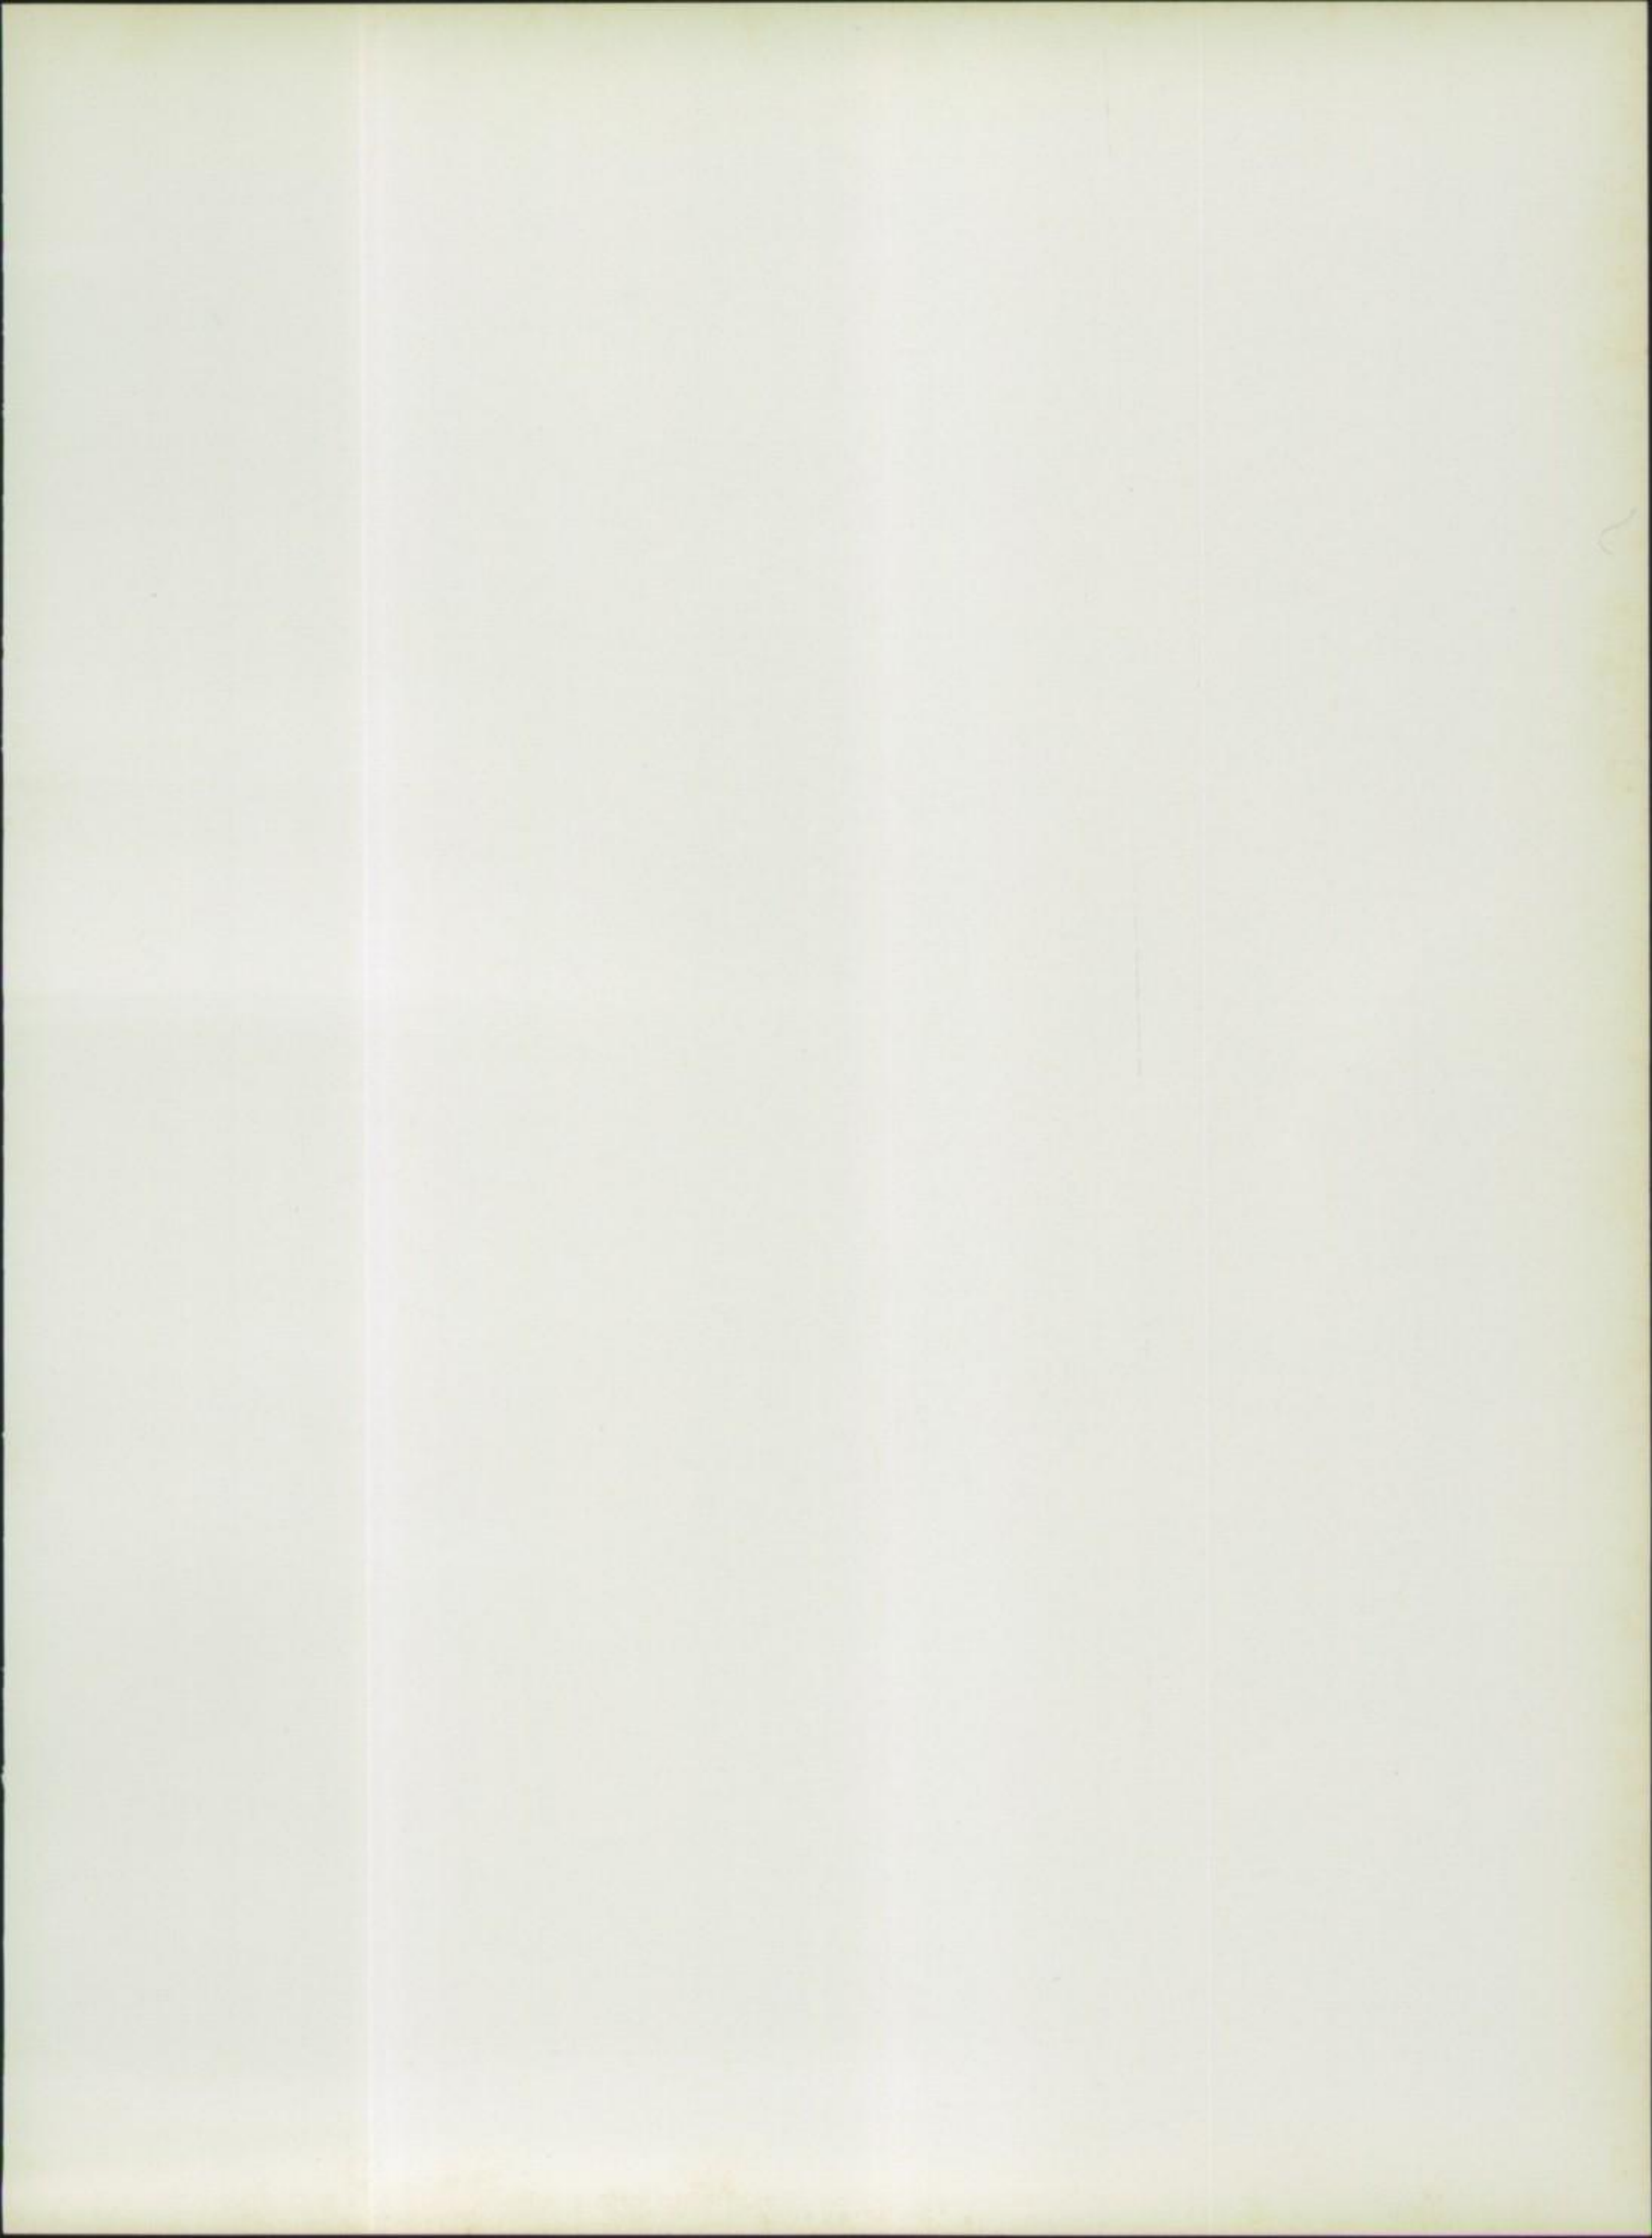

Bill LaMar

For compiling very fine academic records in their high school career, Rosetta McCrorey and Bill LaMar were honored as Valedictorian and Salutatorian, respectively. Rosetta is continuing her education at The School of the Ozarks, and Bill is attending Southwest Baptist College.

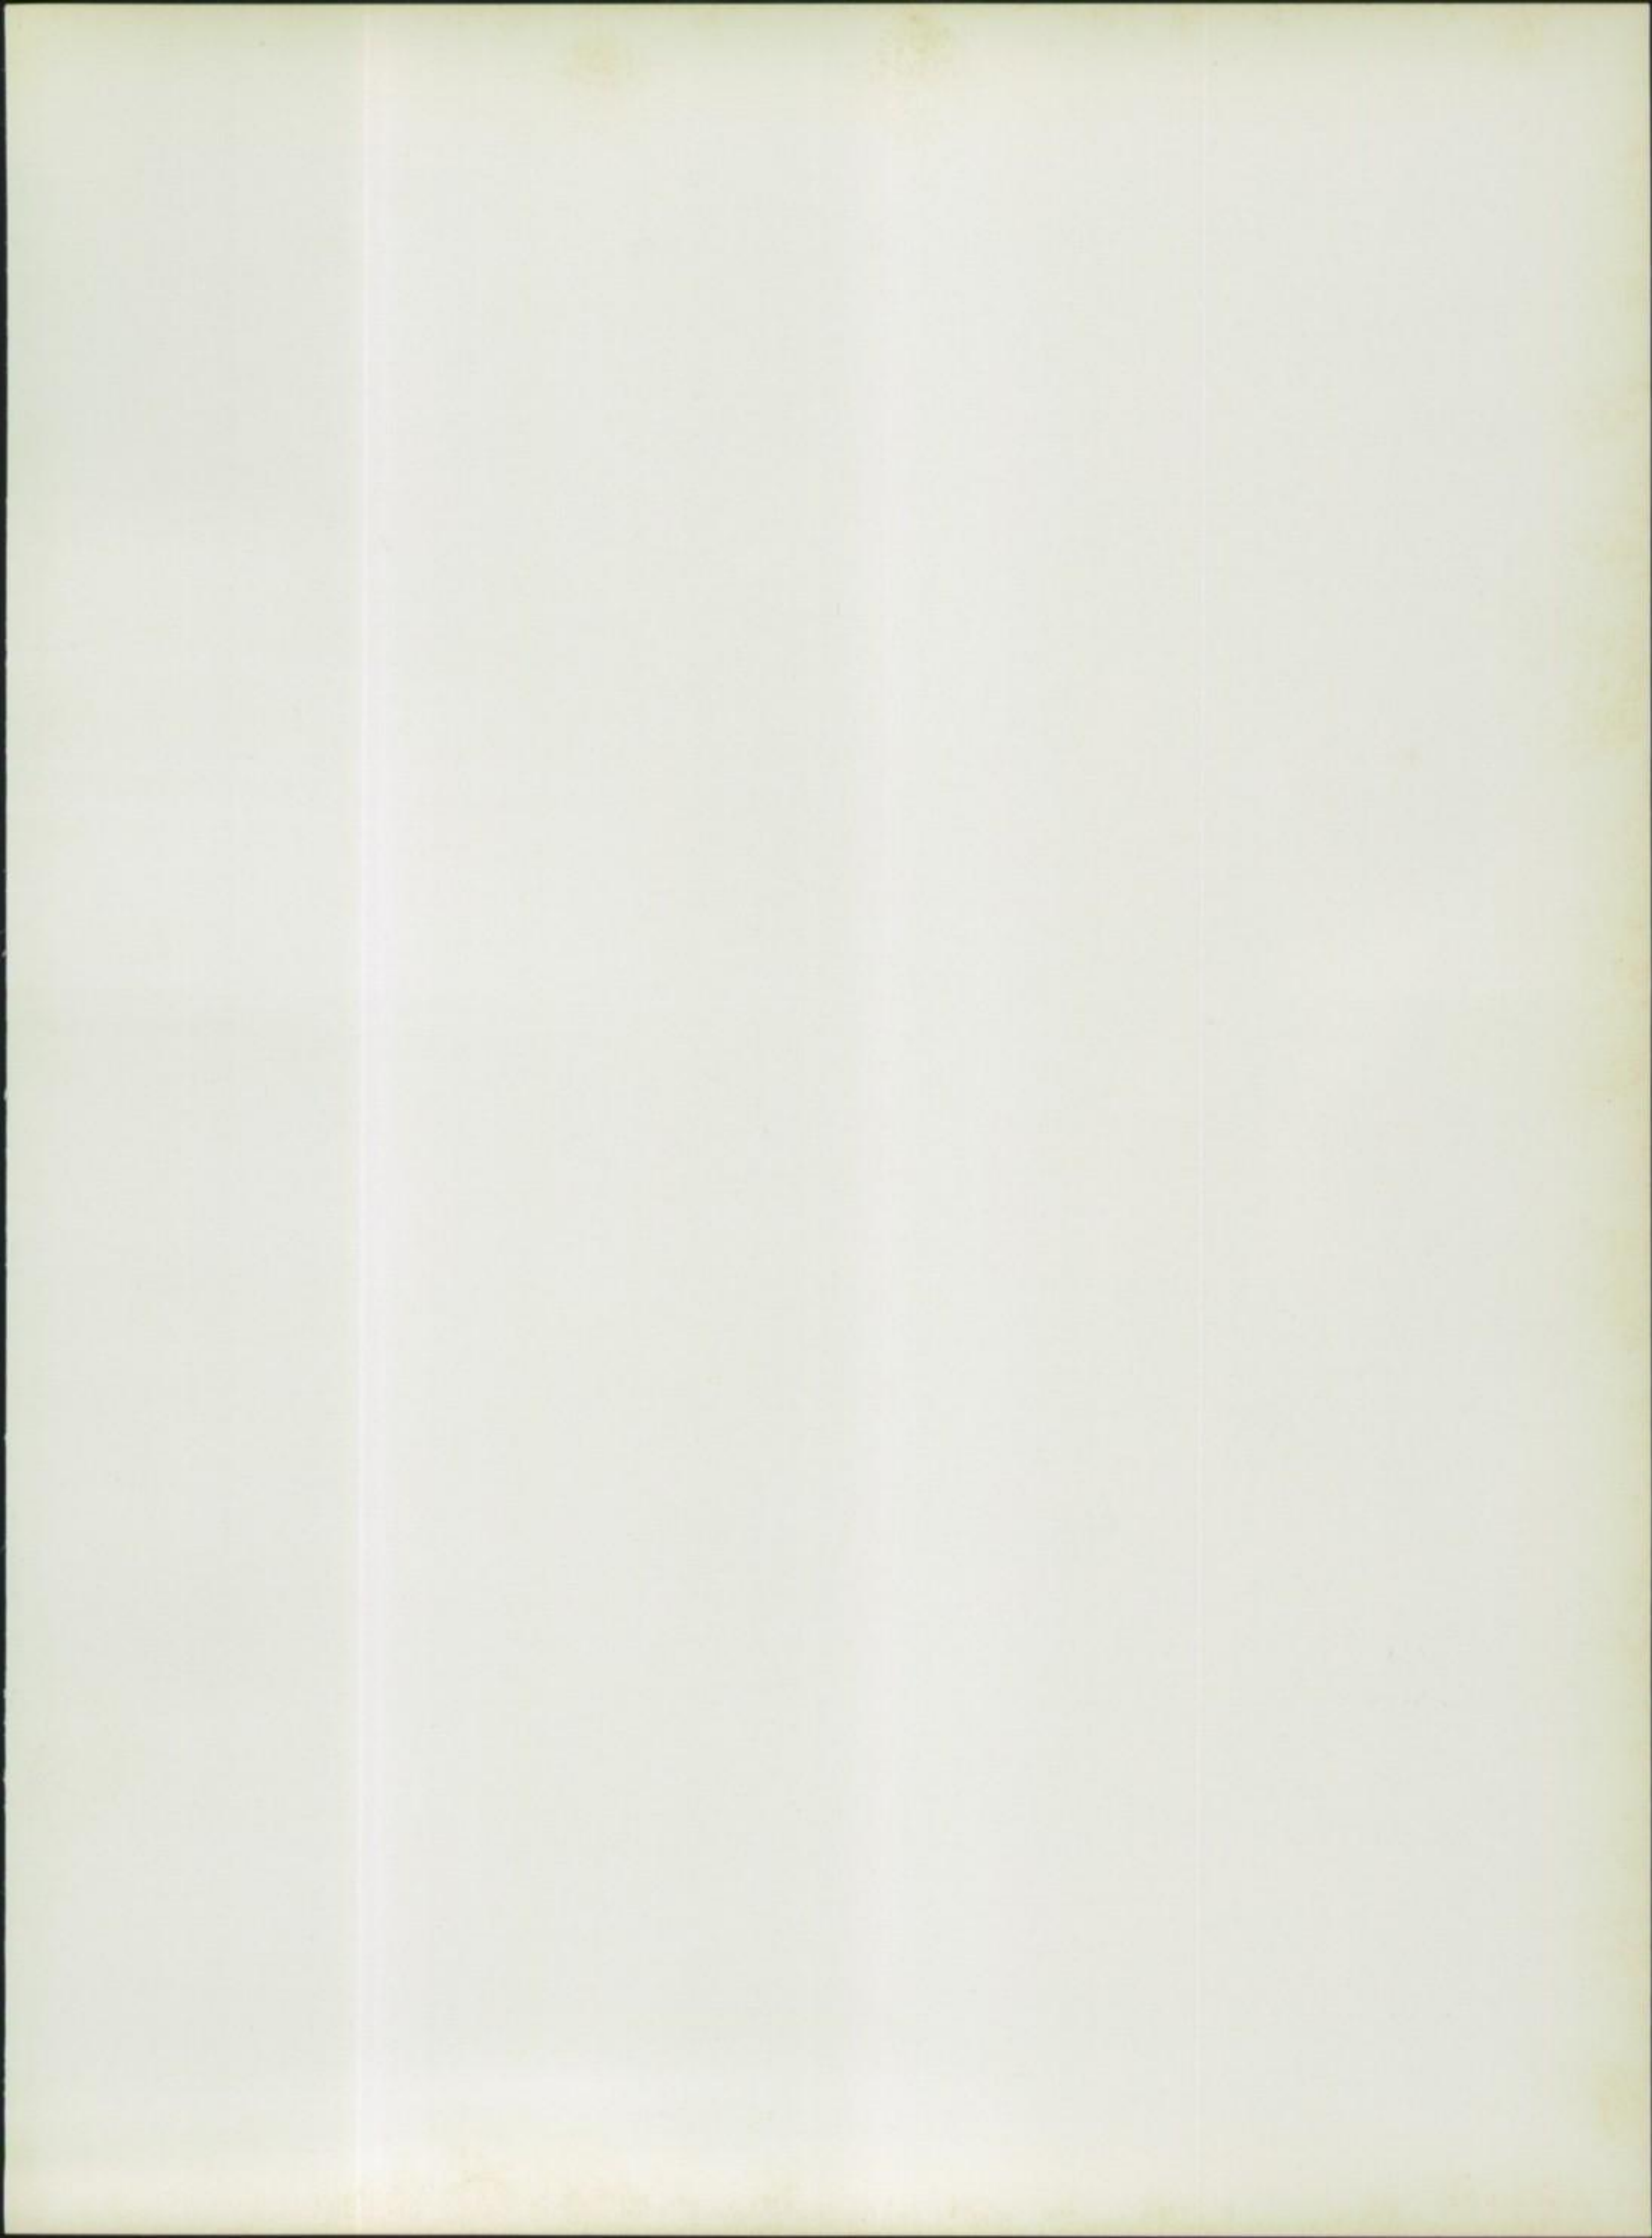

The first Kimberling City Jaycee's academic scholarship was awarded to Diane Foster by Layne Morrill. She will use it to attend S.M.S. The awarding of this scholarship is just one phase of a comprehensive community betterment program of the local Jaycee organization.
